LaCrosse Global Fund Services joins forces with Hedge Funds for Habitat-UK to support Habitat for Humanity's "Hope Challenge"

LONDON, UK (June 2, 2010) – Hedge Funds for Habitat-UK, an initiative by the hedge fund community, announced today that it will participate in its second annual Hope Challenge from June 11-13 in the Peak District.

As part of the team challenge, groups of three to six people will spend two days and nights involved in mental and physical challenges to raise money to enable people living in poverty housing to access a safe, decent home in which to live. Among the scheduled activities are 20 miles of trekking and 1,000 meters of hill ascent. The team members will spend two nights in a shelter they construct themselves from scrap materials.

In 2009, the Hedge Funds for Habitat-UK team raised enough money to build five Habitat houses in the developing world. The 2010 fundraising target is to raise enough to build 20 houses.

"Hedge Funds for Habitat-UK is calling on supporters from hedge funds, other investment funds and the service provider community to support its goal. Hedge fund professionals know that investing in human capital is key to the success of our industry – and our cities. This applies equally, if not more so, in the developing world. Safe, decent and appropriate homes will help families to thrive, and that helps all of us to flourish," said co-chief executive officer Stuart Feffer.

"Over two billion people worldwide live in poverty housing, which causes insecurity and poor health and consequently limits their ability to earn an income," says Ian Walkden, national director of Habitat for Humanity GB. "This, in turn, means they cannot pay for healthcare or education, and so they continue to be dependent and vulnerable from generation to generation. Enabling access to a safe, decent place to live can break this cycle. We are really excited about this unique collaboration with LaCrosse Global Fund Services and the UK's hedge fund industry. Hedge Funds for Habitat-UK unites global hedge fund leaders—among the most innovative thinkers and doers in London and environs—with an innovative housing initiative that addresses one of the most pressing problems in our world today.”
