Noctua Asset Management's Alto Global Fund, Ltd.

Buenos Aires, Argentina – July 14, 2009 - LaCrosse Global Fund Services announced today that it has been selected to provide fund administration services to Noctua Asset Management and its new Alto Global Fund.

Set to launch in August, the Latin America-based fund will focus on opportunistic trading within liquid instruments to profit from global market dislocations with an emphasis on emerging markets. The fund employs a combined top-down approach with fundamental bottom-up analysis. Noctua Asset Management's team has knowledge, experience and information that spans across asset classes, markets and strategies.

Luis Caputo and Martin Guyot will manage the new fund. Caputo helped to develop the emerging market franchises at JPMorgan and Deutsche Bank. Guyot began his career at Cargill as part of its emerging market group during the 1990s and then joined Stark Investments as head of the emerging markets group. The firm's team of eight professionals will be located in Argentina and the United States, with a presence in Brazil and Uruguay.

"Alto's multidisciplinary expertise spans across asset classes, markets and strategies. We are proud to be appointed as its administrator," said Gustavo Rodriguez Ponti, head of Latin American business at LaCrosse Global Fund Services.

"LaCrosse's support has been a key asset throughout the fund launch process. The entire team is knowledgeable, experienced and professional," said Guyot, chief executive officer at Noctua Asset Management.
